

CPD Framework leading to a BSc (Hons) in Applied Health Sciences

Academic Skills for Higher Education Courses

APPS2100

Many people would like to be students in Higher Education but are unsure or lack confidence in their abilities to study at this level. This is often because they have not studied for a long time or have not had the opportunity to do so.

This concentrated module aims to introduce healthcare professionals to the required skills, such as essay writing and academic referencing, and to engender confidence to continue studying and access higher education.

It is suitable to undertake prior to any degree level study.

Assessment:

There will be 2 parts to this process:

- A reflective portfolio
- Written assessment

These two pieces of work will enable the student to put together a portfolio suitable for professional re-registration and will prepare them for future academic assignments.

Students will be given directed study and receive tutorial support throughout the module.
