

Life after the University of Worcester

Ready for a rewarding career

Choosing the University of Worcester means that you'll receive a quality education while enjoying a great student experience. It also means you'll be setting yourself up for a successful career. Worcester is ranked joint sixth in England for graduate employment.

There are many ways of thinking about 'employable' graduates and there different ways in which employability can be enhanced. Explore this section to find out more about our flexible courses, excellent Careers Service and to meet some graduates who have gone on to interesting jobs.

We also hope that our graduates will stay in touch through our Alumni Association. Our global community of former students now spans many countries with over 18,000 members. Wherever your career takes you, we hope you will keep in touch.

Employability

We are committed to making sure our graduates have the right skills and support to start a great job when they graduate. Our salaried internship scheme has already launched over fifty students onto their chosen career paths.
